Correspondence

The Bulletin has received a copy of the following letter with request for its publication:

On Nov. 13, 1915, just there appeared an article, or rather a couple of paragraphs, asking for clemency in Mrs. Hawke's case.

It is well enough to send this clemency to Mrs. Hawke, but it would be well for you to do a little more than means than by slandering an innocent woman who is not alive and respect defend herself.

The friends of Mrs. Stoney would like to leave either of these statements to the newspaper.

Peeling the Skin is Better Than Bleaching

Ever since the discovery that uncreased waxes would absorb and remove a certain type of skin discoloration, the desire for bleaching creams has grown rapidly, and unfortunately, if this remarkable substance is used, it is apt to have a bleaching and preservative action is quickly removed, so that when it is applied to the skin, it bleaches away the natural skin secretions, outbreaks then appear, and the skin becomes very sensitive.

It is the opinion of many physicians that at all times, when a woman has it in her power to use a cream, she should use one which is not only a skin softener, but also a skin toner.

The scolding, biting, wrinkles and the faded complexion which are now becoming passe, is due to the use of these skin bleaching creams.

Therefore, the fact in has a splendid effect in curing wrinkles and improving color.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into tea with sulphur and alcohol added will turn grey, streaked and faded hair black again. To remove any bit of bandage, soap soap and water, then add a few applications will prove a revelation if you had to bring grey or greyish hair back to the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home. Another way to get the ready-to-use tea is to get the ready-to-use tea, containing the tea and Sulphur at a drug store, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound."

While wavy, gray, faded hair is not as attractive as dark hair, youthful appearance and attractive hair is the best hair.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally to our eyes, and we can see it on a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, and then after it has strayed at a time, morning an evening hair, it disappears, and after other applications two or three hair becomes healthy dark, shiny, soft and lustrous.

few could outweigh the evidence of the facts?

However, we are willing to indicate the facts as we know them. Mrs. Stoney and in behalf of her numerous children, and the other members of her family, cast upon the character of the condemned woman a heavy shadow.

We would ask you to note the following facts which records the life of Mrs. Stoney in Canada. In her old home in the States she was known as Mrs. Stoney.

In the month of August, 1912, Mr. and Mrs. Stoney came to Canada with their three children. Mr. Stoney worked on a farm and rented a house. He was a man of good and careful management, his wife and Mrs. Stoney were both good housekeepers.

This woman, who worked at a small wage, was a good housekeeper and tenderly cared for her three children, the oldest being a girl of 13 years of age.

It is probable that a woman of Mrs. Stoney's character would steal the love of an old man sixty-two years of age, and that is what happened.

I believe that if you had required more carefully into the facts of the case you would not have had such a hasty judgment. A woman who lived so nobly and died so tragically must have had a great influence in a dead woman and her family on record.

It is evident that an investigation which will certainly lead to the vindication of Mrs. Stoney.

PROTESTANT FRIENDS

So I would like to publish the following article to show the anti-patriotic feelings among Jenkins and his wife, and the anti-German feelings of the Protestant Friends.

The schoolhouse and entertainment was planned by a few citizens of Jenkins for the patriotic fund. Two hundred dollars were given by N. C. Campbell, who promised the use of the school, but when the entertainment had to be cancelled, the German friends of Jenkins and Germanas more than good Canadians can stand, and it is a disgrace to the town of Jenkins to let such a thing happen.

The schoolhouse, which is the only available building at Jenkins, has been available for meetings, but it cannot be got for the patriotic fund or for church services.

WINGHAM AGAIN

Editor Bulletin.—Sir,—We are sorry to find in yesterday's issue that the statement made in the paper that the child of three years of age having diphtheria and pneumonia, died at Wingham on Nov. 10th avenges.

It is a fact that this child, Mr. Campbell's son, where little Constance, a school pupil, was born, died at Wingham. The location of the origin of the disease is not known, but we are sure that until we believe we have a grievance that more energy is used in combating little side issues. No reasonable person would be satisfied with the ability of the sober being built to the school at Wingham, but it is the school at Wingham, rather than in supporting their cause instead of minimizing the death of this child, do quickly. Yours truly,

WINGHAM CITIZEN,
Nov. 23rd, 1915.

"ALL ABOARD FOR VANCOUVER" WAS
CALL ON TUESDAY

First Regular Passenger Train on C.N.R. Coast Service Steamed
Out Tuesday A.M.

FOURTEEN LINES NOW
CENTRE AT EDMONTON

Dream of City's Pioneers More Than Fulfilled—Two
Transcontinental

Promptly at six o'clock Tuesday
ing the first C.N.R. passenger train Steamed out from the main terminal of the union depot on its thirty-four hour journey, thus not only definitely opened the transcontinental railway and streets of a third transcontinental rake, but also provided a direct route from Edmonton with a much shorter and quicker route to Vancouver, and at the same time placed the idea in mind in the possibilities of greater development.

Sir Donald Mann, Vision.

It is ten years ago since the first passenger train arrived into Edmonton from the east, amid popular rejoicing, and the public bandit which followed the arrival even to the gates of the city on that occasion, allowed his thoughts to swing onward to the day when a transcontinental train would be pushed across the mountains, so that Edmonton could compete with the vantages that another transcontinental system affords. The intervening period has been long, Sir Donald thought, but it has arrived at last.
The first regular passenger train arrived in Edmonton on Tuesday when Conductor George Campbell, a shrewd old-timer, who the station could not help reflecting on the tremendous change in the character of Ed-monton's transportation problems within the past ten years.

Fourteen Lines Out of Edmonton.

Passengers can now travel in fourteen lines from Edmonton, with the E. & D. & B. north, the A. & G.
W. west, the G.P.R. south, and the O.W. & S. River line north of the C.N.R., the C.N.R. main line west, the C.P.R. main line east, the C.N.R. Stony Plain branch, the P.P.R. branch line with the C.N.R. branch to Calgary, and the C.P.R. to Winnipeg. Most of the lines have made a wonderful change within almost a decade, and even more so by the sturdy plowmen who planted their faith in this section of the prairies.

In addition, Edmonton has a triple head of traffic, and the result is that for comfort and convenience is not excelled anywhere on the continent.
Edmonton and Calgary should also be in the market for the great number of trains each way three times daily, the G.P.R. twice each way, and the C.P.R.
three times each week. Within the Edmonton territory, too, is the C.N.R.
headquarters of the great oil productive fields, and the C.P.R. branch line reaches the oil fields. The C.P.R. also furnishes an air line from Edmonton to St. Paul, by way of Winnipeg, and to Duluth, Minn., where connection is made with the Soo Line.

G.T.P. Tops Northern Pacific.

To the west, the G.T.P. is the most important point of British Columbia at Prince Rupert, and the G.T.P. connects with the Yukon, Alaska, the galleries of the Northern Pacific, the Pacific Coast Charlotte Islands, and to Japan and China. The C.N.R. main line now reaches the ocean port of Vancouver from Edmonton to Vancouver, Victoria, and the great traffic through the Panama Canal.

Catena Sixteen Trains in a Day.

The greatest number of trains now traveling between the two cities is sixteen. The C.N.R. has two daily to the east, one daily to Kamloops, one time to Prince Rupert, and twice weekly to San Gaudio, twice weekly to Kamloops, and twice weekly to Vancouver. Three daily trains leave on the C.P.R. to the east, one each for Calgary, and one for the west. The C.P.R. has one daily train to the east, and one to the west, and one to Winnipeg.

There were one hundred passengers on the first C.N.R. train for the west Tuesday morning, and W. W.
Loomis was in charge of the locomotives.
After the departure of the train,
the combination dining and observation car, Mistaya, the sleeping car, Maple Leaf, the dining car, the coach, one smoking coach, and baggage and express cars.

Both the dinner and sleeper are electrically heated, and there are all improvements for the comfort of the passengers.

Day of Vancouver Wednesday.

The train is due to arrive at Vancouver at 10:30 A.M. Wednesday. Trains in future will leave Edmonton on Sundays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, and Mondays. The first train from Vancouver is due at Edmonton at 12:30 on Thursday night.
